Blog Article: My Time at BHS

By Caleb Warren-Smith My time at Brummana High School was challenging, enriching and enjoyable. Fresh out of completing my MA degree from the University of Edinburgh, I travelled 4,000 kilometres to face an entirely new challenge in Lebanon. I had studied Islamic and Middle Eastern history at university and was eager to dive into the...

Marking Earth Day 2020 today. This Earth Day, and even more so as we are united worldwide to combat Covid-19, let's take some time to consider ways we can all live more in balance with our planet.

The school's sustainability programme, under the framework of the UN 2030 Sustainable Development Goals, is a student-led programme, with Natalie A. (B1) heavily involved along with other students across different grades. This Earth Day Awareness Campaign is just one example of a student-led action. Look out for a potential upcoming webinar on a sustainability topic too during lockdown.

Please visit the school's Instagram page @brummanahighschoolofficial to view the 11 excellent videos from the BHS 'I Serve' club on sustainability measures we can all do whilst confined to our homes.
