Week 35: The evergreen oak tree, Quercus calliprinos (شجرة السنديان - Fagaceae Family), is native to the Mediterranean and Northern Africa. It is regarded as one of the most abundant trees in Lebanon.

Throughout the campus, there are a lot of oak trees. The one growing on the road above the Dobbins Hall is undoubtedly the most picturesque.

As part of the school's 150th-anniversary celebrations, the curator of Brummana High School Botanical Garden will dedicate a section of our weekly bulletin to highlight 150 plants that are currently flourishing on our campus. Every week, one plant will be profiled for its scientific and cultural significance. Our ultimate goal is to shed some light on the rich and diverse plant collection present on our campus, because, as the legendary naturalist Lord David Attenborough once said, "No one will protect what they don't care about; and no one will care about what they have never experienced."

It's incredibly enjoyable to learn about Celtic culture from Grade 8IP SST presentations. It will feel as if you are currently in Ireland. The creativity and vitality of Grade 8IP are praiseworthy. 🇮🇪
