Greek juniper, Juniperus excelsa (الزهرج), is a coniferous evergreen shrub or tree that is native to Lebanon and parts of Southeast Europe and Southwest Asia. It is distinguished by its striking blue-green foliage that releases a fragrant scent when crushed. This incredible tree can grow from sea level to mountain regions, and it can adapt to a variety of climatic conditions and altitudes, even surviving at higher elevations than our well-known Lebanese cedar. The berries of Juniperus excelsa have been used in traditional medicine to treat various ailments, such as digestive problems, respiratory issues, and asthma. They are also used to flavor gin and other culinary dishes.

A recently planted tree can be found on our campus to the left of the main entrance to the library.

The gardening club students, along with Principal David Gray, planted a tree next to the library's entrance. The planting of this tree was intended to welcome Miss Ferial back to the school. A Juniper tree was chosen specifically because it exemplifies Miss Ferial's bravery, tenacity, and strength.

In preparation for the BHS International MUN conference, the BHS MUN trainers, Toufic Y., Charbel C., Chloe Z. and Ryan El M., started online training sessions with students from Sidcot school, U.K. The session was quite interesting, and will be followed by many others over the coming weeks.

Thank you, Old Scholar Iman Issa Kortbawi '92, for sharing these wonderful photos of the mini class of '92 reunion with us.
Iman Issa Kortbawi '92, Kamal Khoury '92 and Dany Costa '92 reunited in Stockholm, Sweden on April 18, 2023 and spent a wonderful day together reminiscing about their days at school and catching up on each other's latest news.
Infact, Iman and Dany hadn't seen each other since they graduated from BHS in 1992!
It's lovely to see BHS Old Scholars staying ... See more
